

Gov. Dewey's 'Retirement' Believed To Be Only Temporary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The withdrawal of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey from the New York governorship picture was regarded by most politicians here as intended to be only a temporary retirement from active politics.

These politicians inclined to the view that Dewey, Republican nominee for President in 1944 and 1948, has convinced himself that at the age of 52 he has one more such run in his system.

He announced in a statewide broadcast from New York last night that "not under any circumstances" will he be a candidate this fall for a fourth term as governor, or for any other office.

He did not say he would never again be a candidate. His statement said he would not be running "this fall."

Perhaps significantly, he said in his announcement that in private life he would "continue to take an active interest in the cause of good government and enlightened public policies."

He said he would be "actively in the campaign to elect my successor."

In Washington GOP circles, including those close to President Eisenhower, the general expectation was that U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives will become his party's candidate, although reluctantly, for governor of New York. Ives need not resign his Senate seat to make the race, and if nominated and elected, he could name a Senate successor to serve until the next election.

Ives has said repeatedly, reiterating it shortly before Dewey's broadcast, that "I am not a candidate."

There seemed little doubt that Dewey, retiring after 12 years in the gloomy mansion at Albany, would remain a close advisor to Eisenhower and the national administration.

As one who helped get Eisenhower in the race for the GOP nomination in 1952 and who has had the White House ear since, he remains one of the relatively small group to whom Eisenhower might turn for a recommended successor if the President decides not to run again in 1956.

If Eisenhower does try again, some think Dewey may run in 1956 for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Herbert Lehman (D).

Then there is the possibility that Eisenhower would name Dewey to a high federal post. The governor has been mentioned several times as a possible successor to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, should the latter decide to retire.

In Denver, where he is summing up, Eisenhower expressed regret over Dewey's decision—a regret obviously shared by many Republicans who felt that the New York prizes in this year's battle for control of Congress may have receded somewhat with Dewey's name off the ballot.

New York Republicans will nominate a candidate for governor in their Sept. 22-23 convention.

While the Democrats have not yet nominated their candidate for governor, the two most prominent names mentioned are Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and New York City Mayor Robert Wagner. The magic of the name of FDR could still carry weight, many observers feel. And Wagner's popularity grows daily in the metropolitan area where New York elections generally are decided.

Overcrowding Still Problem In Schools Despite Transfers

Third Grade Big Headache On Opening Day

Enrollment in the city's five elementary schools Wednesday was only two over the estimates and in the high school it was 13 under the estimate—but, school officials expressed the conviction that the 1,191 registered the first day in the elementary schools would be increased considerably within the week and that the 1,075 registered in the high school would probably be raised to the anticipated 1,088 within the next few days.

The first day of school for the youngsters lasted only a half day Wednesday and that was devoted principally to routine of organization.

Supt. W. A. Smith said after the classrooms had been emptied of pupils by noon that "we've got troubles... and most of them concern overcrowding."

School officials, however, did have one problem they had not expected. James Cook, who had been added to the teaching staff for the expanded commercial courses, did not show up.

In a telephone call, Supt. Smith said he told him he "could not afford to take the position here." He told the school head that he would write him a letter, explaining his actions.

Supt. Smith said another commercial teacher was to give him her answer to the offer of the position Wednesday afternoon.

BUT, THIS WAS a minor complication, compared to the pupil congestion problems. The big headache is the third grade. Supt. Smith admitted. Although there had been transfers involving 66 boys and girls in crowded East-side and Sunnyside schools, one third grade room at Eastside came up with 47 pupils the first day. That situation, the superintendent commented, was indicative of the trouble plaguing the school administrators.

Another conference of the principals of the five elementary buildings with the superintendent was hurriedly called for Wednesday afternoon. It seemed certain that there would be more transfers.

At last, there will be a group to co-ordinate the work of our Fayette County Historical Society and other groups like it all over the state.

I have heard from Ralph Penn that a meeting held recently at Adena, the first governor's mansion in Chillicothe, really bore fruit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Penn and Miss Elizabeth Johnson were all at the meeting to represent the Fayette County Historical Society.

The upshot of the meeting was the establishment of the Ohio Institute on Local and State History. The Institute will meet annually to help local and regional historical societies through informal discussion.

The first meeting will be held in Newark on Oct. 30. Everyone interested in local history, museums, folklore and the like is invited.

It seems to me the chance that many of us have been waiting for. The museum of the Historical Society here has been planning should benefit considerably from the Institute.

Nationalist Planes, Ships Hit Red Bases Near Quemoy

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist bombers teamed up with warships today in a third straight day of attacks on potential Red invasion bases near Quemoy.

Bombs and shells rained on Red artillery batteries which have shelled the Nationalist island just off the coast, and on bases where the Communists may have been massing shipping for an invasion.

The Defense Ministry said yesterday's assaults scored direct hits on two Communist gunboats, damaged another, sank four motorized junks and more than 10 wooden vessels. It said more than 100 military junks were damaged.

The attacks have concentrated on Amoy, big Communist island base just a few miles inshore from Quemoy, and on nearby island strongpoints.

A British freighter was caught in Amoy's outer harbor during yesterday's aerial attack, but escaped with only slight damage from machinegun bullets and shrapnel.

THE SKIPPER of the 1,900-ton Inchikida reported that his ship was strafed and bombed by "unidentified aircraft." He asked Royal Navy protection in leaving port and heading back to Hong Kong. There was no indication what action the British would take.

A spokesman in Hong Kong for Williamson and Co., owners of the Inchikida, said there were no casualties.

Red China's Peiping radio claimed three Nationalist planes were shot down and 20 others were damaged in yesterday's attack on Amoy.

An official army spokesman here heatedly denied a published report saying there were indications the Reds would try to storm Quemoy.

"I'm getting tired of denying one lie after another," said Lt. Gen. Chang Yi Ting.

SEATO Pact Tells Reds; 'Hands Off'

8 Nations OK Plan For Mutual Assistance Against Aggression

MANILA (AP)—Eight nations of the East and the West signed a collective security pact today which in effect warns the Communists against any further aggression in Southeast Asia.

It took just three days for the United States, France, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines to reach complete accord.

The treaty hangs a big "no trespassing" sign on small nations in the area. It binds the eight nations militarily and economically, and declares each party will meet the "common danger" of armed attack in the treaty area or against any member "in accordance with its constitutional processes."

Australia's Richard G. Casey was first to sign the historic document. He began affixing his signature to the various copies at 4:02 a. m. EST.

THE DOCUMENTS, about 12x18 inches, were bound in dark blue leather. The ministers signed with individual gold pens.

Casey was followed by France's Guy la Chambre, New Zealand's T. Clifton Webb and Pakistan's Sir Mohammed Zafullah Khan.

The entire Philippine delegation then signed, led by Vice President Carlos P. Garcia, chairman of the conference.

The Philippine delegation, dressed in native tagalog shirts, was followed by Thailand's Prince Wan Waithayakon and Great Britain's Lord Reading.

John Foster Dulles, U. S. secretary of state, who sponsored the meeting, signed last.

Garcia banged his gavel and declared the conference closed.

The "hands off" warning to the Communists defined the treaty area as "the general area of Southeast Asia, including also the entire territories of the Asian parties, and the general area of the Southwest Pacific, not including the Pacific area north of 21 degrees 30 minutes north latitude."

The last definition would extend the treaty just north of the northern tip of the Philippines, but short of Chinese Nationalist Formosa.

The treaty stipulated that other countries could join.

This was an open invitation to such countries as India which refused to attend, saying it believed the confab would do more harm than good.

Tycoon Seeking Ohio Firm Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—Florida tycoon Louis E. Wolfson, fighting for control of Montgomery Ward and Co., yesterday moved to acquire the Marion Power and Shovel Co. at Marion, Ohio.

His New York firm, Merritt-Chapman & Scott, filed a registered statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission proposing a $5½ million stock exchange. It would give the Wolfson group control of the Ohio construction machinery manufacturing firm.

The Wolfson group asked SEC approval on issuance of 448,968 shares of $12.50 par common stock to be offered in exchange for the outstanding 276,815 shares of the Marion company. The exchange would offer three shares of Merritt-Chapman for each two shares of Marion.

WCH Man Being Grilled in Jail After Wife Shot During Fuss

Mrs. Ruth Coil Southward, 23, is in a critical condition in Memorial Hospital here with her left shoulder and neck torn by a shotgun blast and her husband, John Southward, 24, is being held without bond in the city jail accused of shooting her.

The shooting took place in the Southward home, 425 West Oak Street, about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Southward was arrested about 20 minutes after the shooting by Chief Vaiden Long at Memorial Hospital where he had gone in the Gestner ambulance with his wife.

Weak from the loss of blood, Mrs. Southward was given blood transfusions and every effort made to save her life, but last reports indicated her condition was still "very critical."

According to Chief Long, the shooting took place in a bedroom at the Southward home following a long quarrel, part of which was overheard by Mrs. Mary Pollard, who was caring for the two Southward children, a 3-year-old son and 2-year-old daughter.

According to the information given Chief Long, Mrs. Southward had driven to the bakery where Southward was employed, to bring him home at 2 A. M., at the end of his night's work, and the quarrel was under way when they reached home.

CHIEF LONG said the gun was discharged within a few feet of Mrs. Southward, as shown by the powder burns about the wound, and that blood and particles of flesh were spattered on the wall back of where Mrs. Southward was sitting, in her night clothing, beside the bed.

She told police her husband had tried to kill her, Chief Long said. Southward denied that he had tried to kill his wife and told Chief Long that he had merely sought to frighten her.

He said that he was holding the gun across his knees while sitting down and was in the act of standing the gun up against the wall when it was accidentally discharged.

However, he admitted that he had gone to a closet, obtained shells and loaded the shot gun during the quarrel some time prior to the shooting.

Mrs. Pollard told police she heard the gun discharged but as the blast was in a room across the hall, she said she thought something had been thrown against the door of the room.

She told police that the quarrel and noise indicated that Southward had been treating his wife roughly, Chief Long said.

IMMEDIATELY after the shooting, Southward hurried into another room and summoned an ambulance. When the ambulance arrived and the driver took in the situation, he notified the police. He was told to take Mrs. Southward to the hospital without delay.

Chief Long took possession of the shotgun.

He said Southward told him he had been "all fed up" over inability of the two to get along amicably together.

Mrs. Southward sued her husband for divorce on June 15, 1954, and Southward filed a cross petition July 26.

However it seems they had been living together since then at least part of the time.

In her petition for divorce, Mrs. Southward stated they were married on Sept. 18, 1950, at Greenup, Ky. She charged extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty and obligation for divorce on June 15, 1954, and Southward filed a cross petition July 26.

Court Held In Ambulance For Kidnap

ZANESVILLE (AP)—Court was held in an ambulance here yesterday as a meek, unshaven Brockton, Mass., man pleaded innocent to a charge of transporting a stolen car across a state line.

Both ankles of Charles F. Noonan, 26, were broken, police said, when he was thrown from a car after forcing a bride of two weeks to drive him from Pittsburgh. He was found Saturday on a highway near Cambridge.

Police said the woman, Mrs. Raymond Lang, 26, of Homestead Park, Pa., told them Noonan got out of her car near a motel at Cambridge, took the keys but did not lock the ignition. She said she locked the car doors, started the car, and Noonan was hurled to the ground when he tried to leap on the vehicle.

U. S. Commissioner Homer E. Walters crawled into the ambulance for the arraignment. Noonan's left ankle is taped pending surgery; his right ankle is in a heavy cast.

Bond was set at $5,000 after Noonan waived preliminary hearing. He is scheduled to appear in U. S. District Court in Columbus Walters said a federal grand jury might be asked to consider kidnaping charges against Noonan.

Cool Canadian Air Covers Ohio

CHICAGO (AP)—Cool Canadian air broke an early September heat wave over wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today but more hot weather was the prospect for southern states.

The cool air spread into the Ohio and middle Mississippi Valley and early today the leading edge extended from the St. Lawrence River southwestward into southern Illinois, Oklahoma and northwest along the eastern Rockies.

But it was warm south of the cool front and temperatures early today were mostly in the 70s and a few 80s over the South.

Lawton Shuns Testimony In McCarthy Trial

Eisenhower Directive Center Of Controversy In Censure Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The six senators who are studying censure charges against Sen. McCarthy pondered today whether to force a general to testify.

McCarthy's first defense witness, Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, former commander of Ft. Monmouth, N. J., refused to reveal a private conversation with Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

Later, McCarthy's second witness, William J. Harding Jr., a New York salesman, testified he heard Zwicker mutter "you S.O.B." at McCarthy during a hearing in New York Feb. 18.

McCarthy's attorney, Ed Williams, protested Lawton's stand, claiming the general was under an Army "gag."

But Williams said he would not demand that the censure investigators order Lawton to testify.

Chairman Watkins (R - Utah) said, however, the committee should consider that question.

WATKINS CALLED a recess of the public hearing while the six-member committee discussed in closed door meeting whether it should direct Lawton to answer.

The committee thus placed itself in the position of passing judgment on one of the major charges originally filed against McCarthy.

A committee order to Lawton to testify would, in effect, be in direct conflict with an Eisenhower administration policy. A decision upholding Lawton's attitude would be tantamount to backing up Eisenhower and rendering a "verdict"—however vague and temporary—against McCarthy.

Lawton, in refusing to testify about the conversation, cited a presidential directive against disclosure of private conversations within the executive department of the government.

The retired general, a friend of McCarthy, said he was acting on advice he had obtained from "various counsel" at the Pentagon.

Ed Williams, McCarthy's attorney, declared that any such advice would be "either incompetent or not in good faith."

Lawton said, "I respectfully must refuse" to give testimony concerning any official conversations with Zwicker because of advice he said he had received yesterday that to do so would violate the directive President Eisenhower issued last May 17. It forbade witnesses at the McCarthy-Army hearings to testify what was said or done at a high level conference in the office of Atty. Gen. Brownell and attended by White House aides and others.

EISENHOWER'S order was not limited to that one conference, but covered all private consultations within the executive department.

One of the accusations against McCarthy is that he abused Zwicker at a closed door hearing on the subject of Communist infiltration of the Army.

Lawton's testimony was sought in connection with this charge.

Lawton, former commanding officer at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., retired Aug. 31.

Lawton's testimony was expected to refute the accusation that McCarthy abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker in an appearance before McCarthy's Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

Zwicker, formerly commander at Camp Kilmer, N. J., was questioned by McCarthy about the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, Army dentist who invoked the Fifth Amendment when questioned about possible Communist associations. Zwicker said he followed regulations in handling the Peress case.

After Zwicker had given what

Turncoat Gl Cites 'Fear' For Holdback

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Most Americans who chose to stay with the Communists did so because of fear, Cpl. Claude Batchelor said in a statement being read into his court-martial record.

Batchelor, 22-year-old Kermit, Tex., man is on trial for aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war. His court-martial at Fort Sam Houston began Aug. 30.

In the latter pages of a long statement scheduled to be completed today, the corporal said:

"I think that most of them stayed because of fear. Very few of them had the intellect to really understand that they were fighting for peace."

Batchelor was speaking of the POWs at Kaesong prior to the "explainer" talks by United Nations personnel. The statement said that Cpl. Edward Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va., had already been repatriated at this time.

Dickenson was tried and given 10 years at hard labor on charges similar to those against Batchelor.

Batchelor said letters from his mother and "commonplace Americans" set him to thinking and changed him from Communist sympathy to hating communism.

"If I get a chance," the statement ended, "I want to do something to make up for what I have done that might in some way have been detrimental to my country."

General Under Fire

McCarthy said were unsatisfactory answers about the Peress case, McCarthy asked whether a general who allows an honorable discharge to be given to a major who has pleaded the Fifth Amendment should himself be separated from the service.

When Zwicker said he did not think so, McCarthy replied: "Then, General, you should be removed from any command. Any man who has been given the honor of being promoted to general, and who says 'I will protect another general who protected Communists' is not fit to wear that uniform, general."

The censure committee was set up to study a resolution aimed at McCarthy by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), along with 46 partially overlapping accusations offered in support of the resolution by Flanders and Senators Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind-Ore).

After it completes its work, the plan is to reconvene the Senate to determine whether McCarthy should be censured.

fers of pupils from the Sunnyside and Eastside schools to the other three schools, but nothing was definite in the way of a solution at noon.

IN THAT THIRD grade room at Eastside where 47 boys and girls were registered Wednesday, only 38 had been expected. Supt. Smith, with distress in his voice, said "38 is too many pupils, but it was better than 47." He expressed the hope that the meeting with the principals would develop some solution.

The first grade enrollment, which was taken care of Tuesday, was 240 compared to an expected count of 257. However, it was the consensus of teachers and the administrators that the anticipated 257 enrollment would be reached and possibly passed.

They commented that the first day enrollment is always short of the actual enrollment by the time school gets settled down to the regular routine.

The first day enrollment was first grade 240, (anticipated 257), second grade 238 (anticipated 270), third grade 208 (anticipated 191), fourth grade 169 (anticipated 160), fifth grade 148 (anticipated 145) and sixth grade 168 (anticipated 166).

The city school board was to hold its regular meeting at 4 P. M. Wednesday and it was certain that the overcrowding problem and the transfers of pupils to equalize the size of the classes would take up much of the time.

Meanwhile, the county schools—13 elementary schools and four high schools—were leveling off with the first full day session. Pupils went to school in the county system for a half-day session Tuesday.

Supt. W. J. Hilly said it would probably be next week before the enrollments of all the schools are assembled in the office of the county superintendent.

The schedule for convening of school in the city and dismissals is to be followed from now on:

CLASSES in the city's elementary schools are to start at 8:50 A. M. but the first bell for pupils to enter the building is to ring at 8:40 A. M.

First and second grade pupils are to be dismissed after the morning session at 11:20 A. M.; third grade pupils (except emergency third grade room at Rose Avenue) at 11:25 A. M.; fourth grade pupils at 11:30 A. M. and fifth and sixth grades at 11:35 A. M.

In the afternoon, pupils in the elementary schools are to be admitted to the buildings at 12:40 P. M. The tardy bell is to ring at 1 P. M. and classes are to start at 1:05 P. M.

Dismissals in the afternoon will be: First and second grades at 3:20 P. M. and starting at 3:30 P. M. the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades in that order.

High school students may enter the building in the morning at 8:30 A. M. The warning bell is to ring at 8:37 A. M. and classes are to start at 8:40 A. M.

High school students are to be dismissed after the morning session at 11:38 A. M.

Class To Start At Crack Of Dawn

OXNARD, Calif. (AP)—The Oxnard Evening High School plans classes at the crack of dawn.

Reason: A group of businessmen wanting to learn Spanish couldn't agree on an evening class time. A morning hour was suggested.

"I told them that if they were crazy enough to want to go to school early in the morning I'd be foolish enough to teach them," said Police Capt. Robert J. Hinnostro, the instructor.

So, starting next Tuesday, the businessmen will attend classes Tuesday and Thursdays from 5 to 7 a. m.

Depositors More Confident Than Year Ago

Every community, and Washington C. H. certainly is not excepted, feels a great deal more confidence in the handling of individual bank and savings accounts today than was the case many years ago.

The insurance of deposits, after experiences that happened here and elsewhere in that unhappy period when bank after bank was closed and financial hysteria was abroad in the land, has become one of the solid defenses against a repetition of depression losses suffered by many thrifty investors and depositors.

This system followed for many years now protects accounts up to $10,000 each and is pointed to with pride by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance, a government owned agency, which has released its 20th anniversary report.

What confidence has brought about in relation between member, banks and savings and loan association and their depositors, is shown in the fact made public by this government insurance corporation which points to the fact that corporation has had to come to the aid of only 37 institutions which have acquired this service in 20 years.

This government agency was created by Congress in 1934 and has done effective work, including access to inspection reports at intervals.

Of the 37 institutions mentioned above only seven were placed in receivership, the last one in 1941. Losses to the corporation totaled $5,000,000—equal to only 2.5 percent of the gross income of the corporation since its establishment. The important point is that in each of the rescue actions, investors were fully protected regardless of the amount in any single account.

To get the corporation started, congress put up $100,000,000 for capital stock. It proved a profitable investment. Over the years the corporation has paid the treasury $39,000,000 in dividends and since 1950, pursuant to law, it has retired a third of the $100,000,000. Simultaneously, the corporation has built up reserves of almost $150,000,000.

Actually, the insurance corporation is a second line of defense against losses. By law, the 1,622 federal and 1,748 state chartered institutions that come under the insurance program are required to build up their own special reserves equal to 5 percent of their insured accounts.

Here, indeed, is a splendid record—no losses to investors, a profit for the federal treasury and substantial reserves within both the individual association and the insurance corporation for any pinch that lies ahead. And if the pinch should get too great, the corporation has further authority to borrow up to $750,000,000 from the U. S. treasury for insurance payments.

In Israel, Girls Don't Pretend

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (U)—Ziva Shapir is a very pretty Sabra.

"A Sabra is a native-born Israeli," explained Miss Shapir, who is Israel's 1954 wine festival queen. "It is the Hebrew word for cactus, which, like our people, must be tough on the outside to endure, but remains sweet inside."

But Ziva, a 21-year-old tall shapely brunette with amber wine-colored eyes, doesn't look at all like a cactus outside. Doesn't look much like a wine salesman either, but the purpose of her month-long tour of America is to stir up interest in Israeli wines. After industrial diamonds, wines are now Israel's most important export to the United States.

"Israel has three wonderful crops — children, oranges and wine," she said. "We have 22 kinds of wine, including champagne."

"Using American equipment, we are now able to turn out 50,000 bottles a day, although as yet we don't. This year we hope to export 400,000 bottles to this country."

The United States is Ziva's second homeland. She came here at the age of 14 and spent three years in St. Louis studying ballet dancing. After returning to her own country, she spent a year with the Israel defense army. Since then she has become an actress and has appeared in several movies.

How does she compare life in America and Israel?

"The average Israeli lives a much simpler life," she said. "Women keep themselves busier. They do more community work. I miss some things there very much, such as department stores. You don't have such a wide range of choice in most things."

"But on the other hand, here your cigarettes are all the same color. Why is that? In the Middle East it is possible for a woman to buy cigarettes to match the color of her dress."

What did she miss most about America? Ziva, whose father is an accountant, thought for a long time.

"In St. Louis I had my own room," she said. "When I returned to Israel our family had a small apartment, and it was impossible for each of us to have his own room. That is what I really missed most—the feeling of owning a room to myself."

Ziva feels that the relationship between boys and girls is much more natural and honest in Israel.

"Here if a boy phones on Thursday to ask a girl for a date on Saturday, she tells him no whether she really already has another date or not. She wants to impress him how popular she is. So she would rather stay home than let him know she isn't dated up two weeks in advance."

"In Israel, dating is much more casual. Girls don't bother to pretend they are popular. They are more realistic."

"Boys are more realistic, too. They don't run around a car to open the door for a girl, when she is strong enough to push it open herself. They are very straightforward. They don't beat around the bush."

Miss Shapir—her full name is translated as "Sunshine Sapphire"—is sure that Dior's new flat silhouette will flop in Israel.

"The bustline there is very important," she said. "The false business is very bad. There is hardly any such thing as a flat-chested girl."

As to the romantic difference between American and Israeli men, she remarked archly:

"Well, I have heard there are frustrated women in this country. I don't know of any frustrated women in Israel. But, please, don't misunderstand me. I like American men. Very, very much."

And What Would Really Happen

By George Sokolsky

Dr. Isador Lubin, long a government economist, and Forrest D. Murden, Jr., also an economist, have prepared a pamphlet, "Our Stake In World Trade," in which the excellent point is made that whereas we only have six percent of the world's population, we produce about 40 percent of the world's output. Having said that, they proceed to tell us how dependent we are on the rest of the world:

"Have you ever imagined what it would be like if we were to be shut off from the products of other lands? Do you know what would happen to our standard of living if we tried to manage solely with what we could produce within our own borders? Among other things, our larders would be without coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas. Sugar, pineapples and many other foods would be selling at prices far above their present levels."

"Television and radio, if we had them at all, would be luxuries beyond the means of most Americans."

I don't know how dependent we really are upon coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas or what would become of us if we had to do without them. One could drink milk and solve a basic farm problem. As for cocoa and bananas, if the women take Dior's strictures on milady's puchitude seriously no woman will touch the stuff for fear that the waist-line might not fit the dress.

When learned economists try to become popularizers, they are usually out of their field. Even a columnist would do better than base the economic policy of a country on the consumption of cocoa and bananas, or even pineapples, although I thought we can get our pineapples from our own country, namely, Hawaii, which still hopes to become a state. A little further on, these economists say:

"...there would be a shortage of newsprint for publishing our newspapers and magazines."

There they say something serious. Canada sure has us by the heel on newsprint, for which they charge unconscionably and get away with it because the United States was careless about its forest and has let its paper factories go north. I live, during the summer, within 17 miles of Lee, Massachusetts, where the first wood-pulp factory in the United States was erected. Some of those mills are still there but they make cigarette and other fine papers. But I see that British capital is going into our southern states to manufacture newsprint and may the day come when we make our own altogether and are not dependent on the Canadian cartel. The Canadians could then sell their newsprint to the British at whatever price they could get.

Now if these economists talked about really important commodities, we might have something to worry about. Take, for instance, cobalt. In 1953, 9,182,000 pounds of cobalt were consumed but only 1,253,000 pounds were produced in the United States. Africa supplied about 84 percent of the world production of 10,100,000 pounds in 1952. According to the report of the Malone Committee, the largest potential reserves are in Cuba; there are large deposits in the United States but they have not been adequately developed.

To the United States, facing the dangers of war and the rise of cancer, cobalt is more important than cocoa or bananas and in the event of a war, it is doubtful that the ocean-lanes will be open so that sufficient cobalt can be brought from Africa. This is a really serious problem. According to the Malone Committee, the western hemisphere, using Canadian, American and Cuban deposits could become self sufficient.

Or take iodine which is essential for medical and metallurgical uses. The United States, which used from 1,200,000 to 1,500,000 pounds annually, receives about half its supply from abroad, probably mostly from Chile. So far as the United States is concerned, it could be in a satisfactory condition as to iodine, as we have a large supply.

Lithium has become important because of the hydrogen bomb. Sure that means more to us than a pineapple. We get plenty of lithium in South akota, North Carolina and California and presumably other places in the United States.

My point is that if these economists want to frighten us, they might deal with products that really matter, not coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas. What do they take us for?

Health Check-Ups For 35-Year-Olds

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Past the age of childhood diseases and before the age of chronic ailments, the 35-year-olds have about reached the halfway point on the road of life. With the life expectancy of the average person close to 70, both men and women should not only take economic stock of their future life but also a health inventory when they reach their middle years.

A person of 35 may think he is too busy to take stock of his health. People in this age group, except when ill, or women, when pregnant, rarely see their physician. They do not consider the many infirmities that could be developing within their bodies. The possibility of death seems unrealistic, but they should consider possible health hazards so that they may be met with intelligently.

After the age of 35, the leading cause of death is heart disease, with accidents a close second. However, as the years go by, cancer becomes the second most prevalent cause of death.

Many people are actually suffering from chronic diseases. They may be walking around with high blood pressure, asthma, a hernia or rupture, a bone or joint defect, hemorrhoids, a kidney disease or some other ailment that needs treatment. Thirty-five is the age for all people to take stock of their personal health and have that necessary medical examination. Regular medical care may add years to their lives.

R. S.: Does a blind person have a better sense of touch than one who is not blind?

Answer: Most blind persons do not have a better sense of touch than persons with normal vision. However, a blind person becomes more adjusted to the feel of objects because of his frequent contact with them with his hands and is able to distinguish them more readily.

Dem Has Edge In Jersey Poll

By Ray Tucker

By LAWRENCE J. KEEFE
Editor's Note: While Ray Tucker is on vacation there will be guest columns by several prominent newspaper editors. Today's column is by Lawrence J. Keefe, political analyst of the Elizabeth (N. J.) Daily Journal.

Few observers of the New Jersey political scene will venture a definite prediction on the likely outcome of the campaign between Congressman Charles R. Howell, Democratic nominee for United States senator, and his Republican opponent, former Congressman Clifford P. Case.

However, everyone is agreed that this is one of the country's real nip-and-tuck political encounters and that it may have a determining effect on control of the United States Senate.

Normally, New Jersey is a Republican state when national issues are involved and rarely sends a Democrat to the Senate. Yet normal conditions don't prevail in New Jersey today. Case is beset by unusual internal Republican troubles traceable to his record as a liberal congressman in his decade at Washington and to his early advocacy of General Eisenhower as a presidential candidate in the pre-convention days of 1952. Senator Taft's admirers made a strong albeit futile, effort to capture the New Jersey delegation to Chicago. Resentments arising from their failure since have been directed squarely at Case.

DEFENSIVE — Furthermore, New Jersey has a new and vigorous Democratic state administration, which has the Republican state organization clearly on the defensive and has uncovered scandals in the Division of Employment Security. These scandals occurred when the division was under the directorship of a popular former Republican governor, Harold G. Hoffman. The present young Democratic governor, Robert B. Meyner, suspended Hoffman last spring.

Hoffman's sudden death in June was followed by publication of an open after-death letter in which he admitted the juggling of monies that led to a $300,000 shortage in the accounts of a

Tot, 2, Unhurt In 3-Story Fall

HARRISBURG, Pa. (U)—Two-year-old George Meredith tumbled out of bed yesterday and landed, unhurt, three stories below.

The baby's bed was against an open window on the third floor of his home. His sister, Margaret, 19, said she saw George roll toward the window in his sleep. Before she could grab him, he rolled right out the window and fell 30 feet to the brick sidewalk below.

The girl rushed downstairs. Little George, wobbling unsteadily, but with a big smile on his face, toddled up to meet her.

A Harrisburg Hospital physician said he suffered no apparent injuries.

George went right back to sleep as soon as he returned home.

bank of which Hoffman had been president.

The Republican legislative majority has tried to hamstring Governor Meyner's investigation of the Hoffman case. These happenings have combined to weaken Republican prestige.

CONTEST—Howell, the Democratic candidate, has won re-elections as Representative in 1950 and 1952 so easily that he became a state figure.

Although not well known personally in the populous area north of the Raritan River, despite something of an ad interim tenure as Democratic state chairman, Howell has overcome this difficulty sufficiently, even as Case has beaten down the criticism that his acquaintanceships were confined largely to Union County, where he resides.

Howell's election is eagerly desired by Governor Meyner, who, despite the usual denials may be New Jersey's "favorite son" presidential entry in the 1956 Democratic National Convention with the object mainly of winning the vice-presidential nomination if the presidential candidate should be Adlai E. Stevenson or someone similarly placed geographically.

Case's foes within the Republican party are protesting with much bitterness that there is no difference in the political philosophy held by Case and Howell, that both are "New Dealers" at heart.

Illustrative of Case's troubles in gaining full Republican support, is the warning of George F. Stringfellow, West Orange industrialist, that he and his friends will "go fishing" on election day rather than vote for Case. Stringfellow is a former chairman of the Republican State finance Committee and probably was on the closest terms of friendship of any Jerseyman with the late Senator Taft.

Neither Howell nor Case has as yet said anything resounding or attention-arresting, with the exception of Case's unreserved disclaimer of McCarthyism. This caused a surprise because it came at a moment when things were proceeding quietly in the Case campaign.

Howell also is anti-McCarthy but has been more restrained than Case in his denunciation of the Wisconsin Republican Governor Meyner, who delivered anti-McCarthy talks in Wisconsin and elsewhere, has expressed the opinion that McCarthyism won't play any part in the New Jersey election.

The Case canvas in the last two months of the campaign will be centered on the appeal that "a vote for Case is a vote for Ike" just as Howell will devote himself to telling the public why "it's time for a change." Howell, however, at the moment must be accorded a slight edge in the contest for the seat that Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson is leaving by Republican leadership request on the grounds that he lacks political sex appeal.

Mississippi Set To Keep Jim Crow

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—An historic special session of the Mississippi Legislature was called Tuesday to lay foundation for dodging the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation.

The key proposal was a constitutional amendment empowering the Legislature to abolish public schools. It provides two methods:

1. Statewide, by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature.

2. Local option, with individual school districts being allowed to abolish their public schools and set up private systems.

Lovely Home Wedding Was Event Of Saturday For Exchanging Of Vows

Mrs. David Neal Chapman

The home of Mrs. Walter Ellis was the setting on Saturday, September 4, when her maternal granddaughter, Miss Margaret Faith Miller, exchanged wedding vows with Mr. David Neal Chapman.

Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Parrett Miller, of the Prairie Road and Mr. Chapman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Neal Chapman, of Xenia.

The setting for the double ring service was two white standards, filled with white gladioli and white pom poms, flanked with two seven branch candelabra, entwined with ivy and holding white tapers at the end of the dining room, with soft light reflecting through high multi-paned windows, embellished with huckleberry foliage and urns of rhododendron foliage, also added to the lovely background.

Rev. Harold J. Braden officiated at the double ring ceremony, which was preceded with a program of nuptial music presented by Mrs. Marian Gage, pianist, and Mrs. Otis B. Core, violinist, whose selections included: "Romance" — Schumann; "Sutut D'Amour" — Elgar; "Andante" — Wieniawski; the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin by Wagner and the recessional by Mendelssohn.

The lovely brunette bride, whose mother and grandmother repeated their marriage vows in the same home, descended the huckleberry draped stairway on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

Her exquisite gown of ivory satin was fashioned with a moulded bodice and long tapering sleeves, with panels of Point de Lyon lace on the full, floor length skirt and also outlining the becoming portrait neckline.

Her fingertip veil was held in place with three Rose Point medallions and lace brought from Belgium, many years ago by the bride's great-great aunt, Mrs. Arvilla Rowe Baxter, and was also worn by the bride's mother at her wedding.

Her only jewelry was an heirloom diamond and sapphire bracelet and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli edged with ivy foliage.

Mrs. Bennett Bartels of Hamilton, a former college roommate of the bride, attended her as matron of honor and her gown was mayflower silk organza over pink taffeta, floor length, fashioned with basque bodice, low round neckline, brief sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a garland of pink demure roses in her hair and carried a cluster of pink grapes and pink demure roses, backed with ivy foliage.

Mr. Robert Chapman, a brother, of Xenia, served as best man for the bridegroom.

A reception at the home, followed immediately after the wedding and Mrs. Miller, mother of the bride received the guests in a navy blue afternoon dress, with a green cypripedium orchid pinned at her shoulder.

Mrs. Chapman was wearing a Dior blue sheer afternoon dress and her corsage was red roses and shattered carnations.

The bride's table was covered with a hand embroidered damask cloth, festooned with English Ivy and was centered with a four tiered wedding cake, topped with a cluster of pink demure roses, with English Ivy at the base and was sentinelled with crystal prism candelabra holding white tapers. Mrs. Forrest Ellis, aunt of the bride, presided over the silver coffee service.

The punch bowl was festooned with natural pink grapes and the base was surrounded with ivy.

The home throughout was decorated with lovely arrangements of roses and white tapers graced the mantels in the double living rooms.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Robert Harrison, Mrs. James Perrill, Mrs. John L. Sagar, Jr., Miss Nancy Swaim, as junior hostesses, Mrs. Forrest Ellis, Mrs. Wilbur Bitzer, Mrs. Robert C. Haigler, Mrs. Russell Beatty and Mrs. Leonard Korn, as senior hostesses.

Later when the bride and groom left on their honeymoon through the Smoky Mountains, the bride was wearing a beige knit dress, a matching bolero, with cocoa and black braid trim, a cocoa hat, bag and shoes, and a cluster of cymbidium orchids in pale pink was pinned at her shoulder.

Saturday's bride, a graduate of Washington C. H. High School, attended Miami University, Oxford, where she was affiliated with Pi Beta Phi Sorority and following her graduation from Ohio State University, she had been associated in the office of the Joseph E. Seagram's Company in Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Xenia High School, and of Wilmington College, served as a Lieutenant with the 187th Airborne Division with overseas service in Korea and Japan.

He is now a member of the sales division of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company in Cincinnati.

Upon their return from their wedding trip, the new Mr. and Mrs. Chapman will reside on McAlpin Avenue, in Cincinnati.

The Talcott St. Church at Hartford, Conn., was built in 1819 by Negroes who said they had "grown tired of sitting in the galleries of white people's churches."

Sloop who has spent over 40 of her 78 years in Crossnore, an isolated town in the mountain regions of North Carolina. From a very early age, Dr. Sloop had planned to be a medical missionary and serve in some foreign field.

However, when she finished medical school, she found that her age would not permit her to enter the foreign missions and so, she and her husband, who was also a doctor, went to Crossnore where they cared for the mountain people working many times under the most adverse conditions.

Through her own efforts and through the help of donations from interested people outside the community, Dr. Sloop was able to bring about a great change in the thinking and way of life of these mountain people. One accomplishment in particular was the growth of their school from one small building that served also as a church and townhouse to a 25 building institution.

Dr. Sloop, who was honored with the coveted award of American Mother of the Year in 1951, said that she held as her philosophy of life, "work, pray, and have faith in your cause."

The second paper of the evening was given by Mrs. Charles Briggs. In her paper, which was based on the book, "The Big Change" by Frederick Lewis Allen, Mrs. Briggs discussed how America has transformed herself from the years 1900 to 1950. "To understand the extent and nature of the big change," Mrs. Briggs said, "we must first go back to 1900 and look about us, at the scene, the conditions of life, and the people."

The differences in transportation and how widely separated communities were from one another are especially noticeable.

The differences in dress and the lack, or the shortage of things, which today we regard as commonplace necessities, were also discussed by Mrs. Briggs. Of all the contrasts between American life in 1900 and a half a century or more later, perhaps the most significant is in the distance between the rich and the poor in income, the way of living and the status in the community. At the turn of the century the gulf between wealth and poverty was immense.

Through the passing of the half century, various forces, such as the growth of mass production as seen in Henry Ford and the chain stores, transformed the country and steadily closed the gap between the rich and the poor.

Examples of how these forces changed America's way of life were pictured by Mrs. Briggs in a most interesting way.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

No Home Demonstration Agent In County Now—They're Scarce

Fayette County is without a home demonstration agent now for the first time since right after the war when Miss Margaret Watson came here as the first one.

This unusual condition was brought about when Mrs. Olive Woodyard returned to her old place as head of the home economics department of Washington C. H. High School after two years as the home demonstration agent.

Although her resignation was effective Sept. 1 so she could start the school year today, she had notified the Extension Service more than two months ago of her intention when she submitted her resignation.

W. W. Montgomery, the county agent, said he wrote Tuesday to Miss Marie Walters, the home demonstration leader for southwestern Ohio, asking her to outline just what the prospects for another home demonstration agent in Fayette County are at this time.

Montgomery made no attempt to conceal his concern over the vacancy here, but at the same time he said he realized the difficulties faced by the Extension Service officials in filling it.

THERE ARE 15 counties in the same predicament, he said—no home demonstration agent and wanting one immediately. What's more, he added, this is the time of year when there are no young women being graduated from college who are eligible for the position. He went on to explain that one of the requirements for the position is a college degree in home economics.

The position pays $4,000 to $5,000 a year, but it's a full time job

U. S. To Hike Air Strength On Continent

WASHINGTON (P)—American air power in Europe will be increased under a plan announced today to rotate tactical Air Force units for temporary tours of duty on the Continent.

The program, starting in the next few weeks, will send squadrons of Air Force fighter-bombers, which are used for the support of ground forces, and troop carrier outfits overseas under a schedule similar to that which has been in use for several years by the Strategic Air Command's long-range bombers.

The rotation plan will test the mobility of fighter-bomber and troop carrier units and to "afford crew members the opportunity to obtain valuable experience and indoctrination in tactical Air Force operations in the European area."

The Air Force did not say so, but the presence of additional squadrons under a schedule which will keep several on the scene at all times also means a net increase for air strength in Europe.

At present, the Air Force has approximately 14 wings of various categories based permanently in England or on the Continent as part of the Western European defense system. These include jet fighter-bomber wings.

In addition, two wings of Strategic Air Command planes operate from bases in Europe and North Africa under the program.

Woman Killed During 'Dragnet'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (P)—A woman was shot to death in a movie featuring the thriller, "Dragnet."

Miss Allee Blackwell, 38, arose from her chair, staggered a few steps and collapsed. She was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Her 46-year-old man companion told police a pistol slipped from his pocket to the floor and discharged. The bullet ripped into Miss Blackwell's body. He was released after questioning.

When the shot rang out, many in the audience rushed from the movie but there was no stampede. The show continued after the shooting.

More War Dead Being Returned

PANMUNJOM (P)—The Communists today told the U. N. Command they will return 300 Allied war dead tomorrow, including the remains of 296 Americans, 3 Britons and 1 Australian.

The U. S. Army said the first ship carrying remains of Korean War dead returned by the Communists will sail from Pusan tomorrow for Kokura, Japan. The remains will be examined at the Army's graves registration laboratory at Kokura to establish scientifically accurate identification.

In the exchange today the United Nations received 279 Americans and 21 British war dead, handing back 600 Communist bodies.

Contractor Gets Seat In Senate

COLUMBIA, S. C. (P)—Charles E. Daniel, president of a large Greenville construction firm, has been named by Gov. James F. Byrnes to the U. S. Senate.

The 59-year-old Democrat will fill out the unexpired term of Sen. Burnet R. Maybank, which ends Jan. 2. Sen. Maybank died of a heart attack last Wednesday.

To replace Maybank as the Democratic nominee for the full term, the State Democratic executive Committee picked Edgar A. Brown, veteran state senator.

The nomination in this traditionally Democratic state is tantamount to election.

1740 Weathervane Parts Missing

BOSTON (P)—The vicar of the Old North Church, which lost its Revere steeple during last week's hurricane, appealed for help today in his search for parts of a weathervane made in 1740.

The Rev. Charles Russell Peck said the big letters N-E-W-S, spelling the points of the compass, were part of a copper and lead weathervane set in place 35 years before the lanterns were hung that sent Paul Revere on his famous midnight ride.

The weathervane was found otherwise intact after it crashed to the ground with the steeple.

Lamb Files New Slander Suit

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (P)—Edward Lamb of Toledo has filed a half million dollar federal slander suit against Rep. Pat Sutton (D-Tenn.).

The new suit brings to $2 million dollars the amount Lamb is seeking in state and federal courts from Sutton and his broadcasters as a result of a marathon television-radio broadcast here July 12 and 13, part of Sutton's unsuccessful campaign to unseat Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Lamb, a newspaper publisher and owner of several radio and television stations, said in his federal court petition that Sutton had called him a "known Communist" during the broadcast.

LABOR

There is happiness in labor, in the work that is well done, Be it physical or mental, You can make it work or fun; It may be just a hobby, Or cutting grass or sawing wood—Be working in an office, At hard labor making good; It's how you think about it, Makes it work or makes it play; Rich, poor need occupation—It will help drive care away.

WHO AM I?

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.
I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the nations.
I am more deadly than bullets, and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of guns.
I steal in the United States alone over $500,000,000 each year.
I spare no one, and I find my victims among the rich and the poor alike, the young and the old, the strong and the weak. Widows and orphans know me.
I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor, from the running of every grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.
I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage earners in a year.
I lurk in unseen places, and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.
I am relentless.
I am everywhere—in the home, on the streets, in the factory, at railroad crossings, and on the sea.
I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.
I destroy, crush and maim: I give nothing, but take all.
I am your worst enemy.
I Am Carelessness

Modernized Locks Slated To Speed Ohio River Boats

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second of a series of stories on the past, present and future of commerce on the Ohio River).

By HAROLD HARRISON
CINCINNATI — Trying to get a 1,175 foot tow through a 600-foot lock today has become the major problem in development of Ohio River commerce.

It is that problem which the U.S. engineers hope to solve through the 20-year program to replace the majority of the present 46 locks and dams with 18 high level locks and dams.

The new locks, three of which already have been authorized by Congress, will be 1,200 feet long.

It costs $100 or more an hour to operate a modern towboat and its string of barges. When one of those 1,175 foot jobs comes to a present-day lock it is necessary to break the tow, push half of it through, then the other half.

That now takes about an hour and a half at each lock. When the high level dams and locks are built, it will take an estimated 20 minutes.

There will be an additional saving in operation costs, too, because of the fewer number of locks and dams necessary to control the depth of the channel.

For instance, the proposed new lock and dam at New Cumberland, W. Va., will replace three of the present structures. The one at Greenup, Ky., for which the first appropriation recently was made, will replace four of the present locks. The proposed one at Markland, Ind., will replace five of the old locks.

The Ohio Valley Improvement Association says the dams and Lock at New Cumberland will reduce maintenance, operational and dredging costs by more than $300,000 a year. The reduction at Greenup is estimated at $600,000 and at Markland it is $700,000.

Those savings, the OVIA says, represent only the amounts as far as the federal government is concerned and not the savings in shipping costs.

It is estimated that each of the new locks and dams will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of 60 million dollars.

Will they be sufficient to take care of future needs?

Engineers say they will. The reason is that rivermen agree tows can't get any longer, than 1,200 feet because of the difficulty of negotiating bends in the river. They are being made deeper and that is the reason it is proposed that the river channel be made 12 feet instead of nine feet.

That proposal has not yet been authorized by Congress.

As far back as 1950, the President's Water Resources Policy commission said: "The greatest immediate need, insofar as waterborne commerce in the Ohio River Basin is concerned, is the replacement of the existing locks and dams in the Ohio River which are inadequate to meet the demands of modern river transportation."

And the Ohio Valley Improvement Association says:

"It is conservatively estimated that upon completion of the long range replacement program, transportation costs on the Ohio will be reduced by up to 50 per cent, bringing Pittsburgh and Cairo, Ill., at the extremes, as close together (from a standpoint of transportation of bulk commodities) as if they were only 25 miles apart by rail or truck."

Although the program is on a 20-year basis, Col. John L. Person, Ohio River division engineer, says that if the money, materials and workers could be made available the U.S. engineers could be building two or three of the dams at one time. They figure it will take four to five years to build each dam and lock.

For the historical record, the first dam was built at Davis Island near Pittsburgh in 1885. Legislation for the present system was started through Congress in the 1890's.

The Ohio Valley Improvement Association says that as they now stand 23 of the locks are from 35 to 50 years old; 21 are from 25 to 35 years old and only two are less than 25 years old. A few are in danger of collapse, it was said.

The original improvements were based on an estimated traffic of 12 million tons of commerce a year so that even before the locks and dams were completed, the commerce was exceeding the original estimate.

From now on, the traffic figures are to get heavier because of the tremendous industrial expansion in the Ohio Valley. That will be outlined in the next of this series.

Deputy Sheriff Arrests Brother

DOVER — Deputy Sheriff John Lawver, whose sharp memory made him an ace Tuscarawas County burglary investigator, used the memory over the weekend to put his younger brother, Curtis Lawver, 26, behind bars.

Called to the home of Curtis near Newcomerstown because of a family fight, the deputy noticed a staple-puller, looked at the serial number and identified it as one stolen in a burglary at the Newcomerstown Farm Bureau branch office. Curtis admitted that burglary and said he and his wife, Doris, took part in several other burglaries, Deputy Lawver said.

Attlee Hoping For China Peace

SINGAPORE — Clement Attlee, former prime minister of Britain, says he hopes his visit to China may contribute to the cause of world peace and to closer relations between the British and Chinese peoples.

In a recorded broadcast over Radio Malaya, Attlee added: "I am sure the common desire of all people, whatever their race, color or creed, is to be free from the menace of war and to live in harmony."

Attlee urged Malaysians to build up "a great multiracial community bestown firmly and without reservation its loyalty to Malaya."

GOP Expects Tough Battle In Eastern U. S. Elections

CINCINNATI — Republicans apparently will find themselves fighting primarily a defensive battle in the eastern half of the country in their November election contests with the Democrats for control of Congress.

Although they maintained the same outward confidence displayed by their GOP colleagues in 14 Midwestern, Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast areas, Republicans from 12 key states in the eastern half made far more modest claims in an Associated Press survey.

Interviewed at the Republican conference here this week, national committee members and state chairmen claimed a net gain of 14 House and one Senate seat in the eastern half. Their western colleagues had claimed gains of 17 House and five Senate seats in 14 states.

This total shift of 31 House and six Senate seats seemed to represent peak Republican claims and was open to hot dispute from the Democrats. The present House lineup includes 218 Republicans, 213 Democrats, one Independent and three vacancies. In the Senate there are 48 Republicans, 46 Democrats, one Independent and one vacancy.

One of the chief GOP trouble spots in the East apparently lies in New Jersey, where criticism of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) by former Rep. Clifford Case, the Republican senatorial nominee, has helped stir up a revolt among pro-McCarthy members of the party.

Democrats expect their nominee, Rep. Charles Howell, to benefit by this but GOP State Chairman Samuel L. Bodine said he remains confident Case will make the political grade.

Republicans also may be in trouble in the Ohio race for the Senate seat formerly held by the late Robert A. Taft and now filled by Democrat Thomas A. Burke.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Ohio GOP national committeeman, said he thinks Republican Rep. George H. Bender can beat Burke if Ohio turns out its normal GOP vote. But Brown said the GOP has a fight on its hands.

One factor the Democrats believe might swing the senatorial battle in their favor is that Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, running for a fifth term, is expected to give Burke much greater support than he has given Democratic senatorial candidates in the past. Privately Republicans aren't too hopeful of defeating Lausche in his own race.

National Committeeman Ralph F. Gates thought Indiana Republicans would hold their own in contests for House seats but some other campaign strategists said privately they fear two GOP congressmen might be upset if economie conditions in the districts don't improve.

In Kentucky, Mrs. Stanley D. Pace, national committeewoman, gave Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper a "good chance" to thwart the efforts of Democratic former Vice President Alben Barkley to return to the Senate.

Politicians generally regard Cooper's chances as among the least favorable of the Republican senators running for re-election this year.

National Committeeman G. Madison Owllett was optimistic about the Republicans' chances of gaining at least four congressional seats in Pennsylvania and holding the governorship by a comfortable margin. He thought Republicans might make substantial House gains in Philadelphia.

Some other Republicans said, however, their party's chances may not be too good unless there is an improvement in employment in the soft and hard coal regions, in railroads and steel. Given no such improvement, they thought it possible they could lose three of the 19 congressional seats they now

Ohio's Auto Insurance Due For Cutback

COLUMBUS — The state superintendent of insurance announced today new rates for automobile damage coverages, effective next Monday, at an annual savings of $2 million to Ohio policy holders.

Supt. Walter A. Robinson said the material damage coverages include fire, theft, comprehensive and collision. The new rates were filed by the National Automobile Underwriters Assn. and accepted by the division.

Robinson said that under the new rates private passenger $50 deductible collision insurance premium revenue for the state as a whole will be reduced about 3 1/2 per cent. Although the cuts range from 3 per cent to 4 per cent in most rating territories, Robinson said $50 deductible collision remains unchanged in Hamilton, Springfield, Steubenville and Lima.

The $100 deductible average collision premium for private passenger automobiles was cut about 19 per cent with the average reduction varying as much as 21 per cent in several rating territories.

The private passenger collision classification rating plan was modified to include a provision for reducing the collision premiums on farmers' private passenger automobiles by 20 per cent.

Commercial automobile, local, intermediate and long-distance hauling, fire, theft and comprehensive was unchanged.

Commercial automobile collision premium revenue for the local-hauling classification was reduced about 8 1/2 per cent. The intermediate and long-distance hauling commercial classification was unchanged.

Yachtsmen on Grand Lake, Colo., say theirs is the nation's highest anchorage — 8,369 feet above sea level.

BLINDNESS has not dimmed the courage of Gerald M. McGart, 30, a court reporter shown at his job in Detroit. Ten months ago doctors told McGart they could not save his sight. He told in his own words how it happened. "My mother was driving me to work. All of a sudden, it happened. It was like someone had splashed ink on my glasses. I took them off and rubbed my eyes. There was only darkness." Doctors say blindness was caused by scar tissue from diabetic condition. (International)

Yanks Ready For Tell-Tale Western Trip

New Yorkers Facing Prospect Of Return As 'Ex-Champions'

By The Associated Press
The world champion New York Yankees go West today. Barring miracles, they will be ex-champs by the time they get home.

Not since the last century has a band of Yankees headed into Indian territory with such a faint chance of survival.

The Yankees play 11 of their remaining 17 games on this tour of Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Philadelphia. They now trail Cleveland by 4½ lengths.

While the Yankee covered wagon grinds around the circuit for the last time, the Indians will be happily ensconced in their wigwam on the banks of the sky blue waters, clipping off their foes one by one.

The big battle, which might go down in history as Casey's Last Stand, is set for Sunday when the Yankee caravan reaches Cleveland for a double-header.

The Yankees can't be eliminated positively until after that engagement.

Manager Stengel is gambling right at the start with Tommy Byrne tonight in Baltimore, which according to American League geography is West.

A wild man in his previous stints in the majors, Byrne was bought from Seattle last week in a desperation move. Tonight is his first start.

While the Cleveland Tribe stays home, that other bunch of wild Indians, the Milwaukee Braves, heads East in a lightning foray after the National League title.

The best road club in either league, the Braves open their 12-game tour in Pittsburgh trailing the league-leading New York Giants by 4½ games with 19 to play.

The trip includes Friday and Saturday games against the Brooklyn Dodgers, who are in third place and still are trying to find out how it happened, and a three-game set next week in the Polo Grounds starting Tuesday night.

The Giants picked up an important half game last night in an 11-inning thriller at Philadelphia, where they chased the Phillies 3-1.

Only one other game was played in the majors. Washington edged Philadelphia 5-4 before a gathering of 460 fans, the smallest crowd ever to attend a game at Washington's Griffith Stadium.

Monte Irvin followed two walks with a double to the right field fence for two New York runs in the 11th. Davey Williams walked to start the inning and moved to second on a sacrifice. URT Simmons struck out pinch hitter Eric Roden and walked Willie Mays intentionally, bringing up Irvin.

The Giants had scored a run in the second and Granny Hamner tied it with his 13th homer in the eighth. Simmons gave up only six hits in losing. Ruben Gomez, with help from Hoyt Wilhelm when the Phillies loaded the bases in the 11th, picked up his 14th victory.

The Giants are back home today for a two-game series with Chicago, followed by two each with Cincinnati and St. Louis before the Milwaukee invasion.

The Dodgers, at home for 15 of their remaining 17 games, entertain St. Louis tonight in the first of two games.

Williams Tagged For Batting Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Williams probably will win the American League's 1954 batting crown.

Williams, seeking his fifth title, currently is hitting .358 after 321 at bats. He is well ahead of Cleveland's Bobby Avila, who has .337.

Always a strong September hitter, the Boston Red Sox slugger is surging at a .419 pace this month with 13 hits in 31 trips.

At his 1954 rate of 3.3 times at bat and 1.2 hits per game, Ted will finish with 380 at bats and 136 hits.

Clevelanders Pointing To Baseball Data

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coming to the World Series?

True, the Cleveland Indians haven't won the pennant yet. Nor can they personally make it mathematically certain in their double-header with the New York Yankees Sunday.

But look at these figures: Cleveland has 16 games left to play, and second place New York has 17. If Cleveland wins 10, New York must win 15 for a tie. If Cleveland wins 12, New York must win all 17 for a tie.

And if the Indians win 13 of their 16, the Yanks are finished, done for the year, ex-champions.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, not one to go out on a limb, concedes "things look pretty good" with the Tribe's 4½-game advantage. The fan in the street has few doubts any more, and the out-of-town friends are starting to write Clevelanders about tickets.

Only four games stand before the big Sunday doubleheader, already a sellout. Cleveland entertains the Philadelphia Athletics to-night and tomorrow; the Boston Red Sox Friday and Saturday.

Early Wynn goes for Cleveland tonight in quest of his 20th victory against 11 defeats. His opponent will be Johnny Gray, who has a 3-8 record.

Galophone Stars In Horseman Stake

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Galophone, trailing third in the first heat of the $28,000 Horseman Stake for 2-year-old trotters, came flashing back in the second and third heats yesterday to nip Butch Hanover.

The colt, owned by William Maybury of Dexter, Maine, and driven by Houston Stone, finished with winning heats of 2:05 and 2:08, while Butch Hanover had 2:04.3 in his first heat victory.

Grid World Mourns Death Of Warner

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—The world of football mourned today the passing of Glenn Scooby (Pop) Warner, the old gray wizard of the gridiron.

Warner, the great coach, inventor of plays and contributor to the development of the game which occupied his life, was 83 years old when he died here shortly after noon yesterday, after months of illness with cancer of the throat.

From across the nation, past and present greats in the gridiron world sent condolences and voiced heartfelt tributes to the incomparable old man.

Perhaps Ernie Nevers, former Stanford All-America fullback whom Warner said was the greatest player he ever coached, best summed up the general feeling.

"He was the greatest, that's all," declared Nevers. "He could fix a brace better than the doctor; he had more psychology than the trainer; he had more energy than the student manager and as for football, no one knew as much as Pop."

After a few months of law, Warner began a grid coaching career which lasted for 47 years of developing winning teams, new plays and great players. He coached at Carlisle Indian School, University of Pittsburgh, Stanford University and others. He was advisory coach at San Jose State College as his last official connection with the gridiron.

"Dip" Is Collared
CLEVELAND (AP)—Leo Kramar, feeling a strange hand in his pocket while riding a city bus yesterday, collared a pickpocket who was clutching his wallet containing $80. The thief escaped, but not before the 59-year-old Kramar recovered his wallet.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

2 Questions Raised About Fallen Bums

BROOKLYN (AP)—Now that the Brooklyn Dodgers have all but given up any hope of winning the National League pennant, the time has come to ask two questions:

1. What caused the downfall of a club that was virtually conceded the flag before the start of the season?

2. What's in store for rookie Manager Walt Alston?

The answer to the first is a combination of injuries and players not living up to expectations.

To the second: no one knows, not even President Walter O'Malley.

"There is a ready explanation of why the Dodgers are in third place and not first place," O'Malley said today. "And you cannot blame the manager for it. He is not responsible for Roy Campanella's hand injury; for Carl Furillo's slump; for the loss of Johnny Podres for six weeks; for Carl Erskine's failure to live up to 1953; for the lack of respectable pitching from Don Newcombe and for Preacher Roe's almost total ineffectiveness."

It was just a month ago that O'Malley voiced a complete vote of confidence in Alston. Now he declines to repeat it.

Well, then, will Alston be retained next year?

"We are not making any announcement about it until our usual time," answered O'Malley. "We will go into it after the season is over. This certainly is no time to discuss the matter."

Tebbetts Hoping For Mound Power
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts is hoping his Cincinnati pitching staff will recover from its recent collapse as the Redlegs open their final eastern swing tonight against the Philadelphia Phillies.

The mound crew fell apart last week during the Reds' final major home stand, and as a result they dropped from a three-game grasp on fourth place to fifth place.

In an attempt to bolster the pitching, the Reds purchased left-hander Cliff Ross from their Tulsa, Okla., farm in the Texas League. Ross had been optioned to Schenectady of the Eastern League where he compiled a 13-9 record for a last-place club.

Communism Banned
BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—An article barring international communism from political activity was put into Colombia's new constitution yesterday by the Assembly.

Gas Fumes Blamed In Airliner Deaths

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland. (AP)—The coroner's inquest into the deaths of 28 persons aboard a crashed Dutch KLM airliner has been told that 25 victims trapped in the plane's cabin died of asphyxiation from gas fumes.

One passenger who escaped with 25 other survivors after the plane plowed into the muddy Shannon River Sunday died later in a hospital from injuries suffered in the crash. She was Mrs. Caroline Platz of New York City. Eleven victims and 15 of those who escaped were Americans.

U.S. GI Sought In London Slaying

LONDON (AP)—An unidentified American soldier was sought for questioning today in the silk-stock-ling strangling of a pretty 28-year-old Irish girl.

The girl, Ellen Carlen, was found yesterday on a bed in a Pimlico rooming house with a stocking taut around her neck. Beer bottles and American cigarettes littered the room.

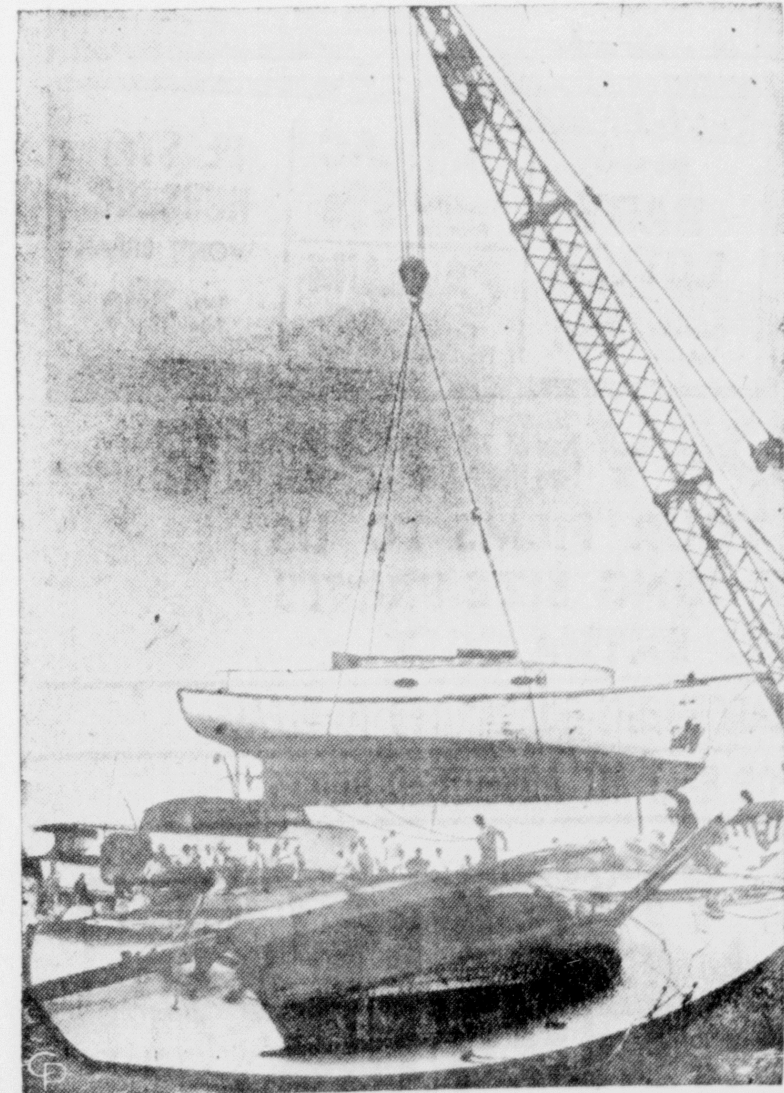

Neighbors reported her boy friend had been an American soldier, but his identity could not be immediately established.

Idle List Drops

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—West German unemployment last month dropped to 878,622, the lowest post-war figure since records were first kept in June 1948.

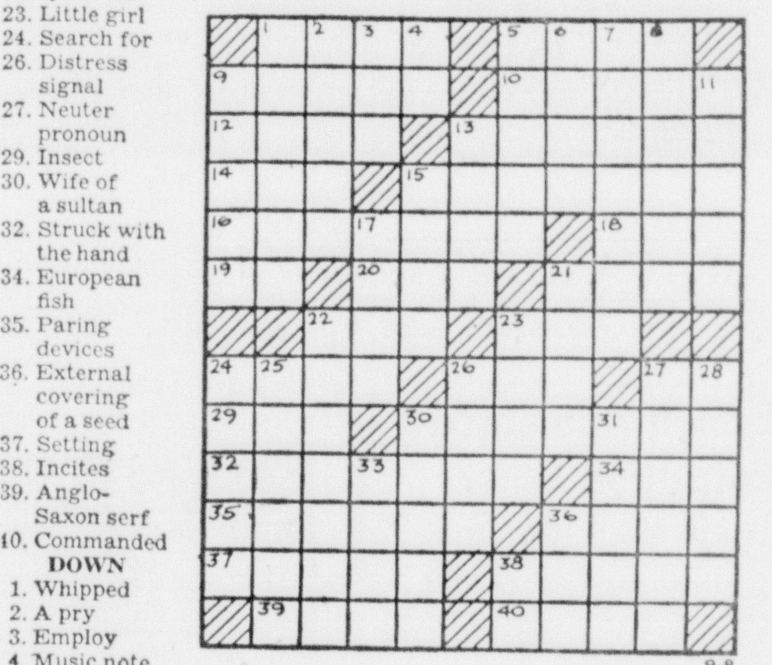

A TECHNICOLOR MOTION picture story of the taming of the wild west, "The Command," opens Wednesday at the Fayette Theater. Guy Madison and Joan Weldon (above) face a savage onslaught in one of the dramatic scenes. Also on the bill will be "Loop-hole," a drama of crime involving a $50,000 bank theft. Dorothy Malone and Barry Sullivan are starred.

ARMIES of workers are struggling to restore Massachusetts to normalcy in the trail of damage left by Hurricane Carol. At Hathery Beach, Scituate, a huge derrick is unsnarling a tangle of boats left high and dry.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X P
is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
